What is a redox flow battery?

Redox flow batteries (RFBs) or flow batteries (FBs)--the two names are interchangeable in most cases--are an innovative technology that offers a bidirectional energy storage system by using redox active energy carriers dissolved in liquid electrolytes.

What is a Technology Strategy assessment on flow batteries?

This technology strategy assessment on flow batteries, released as part of the Long-Duration Storage Shot, contains the findings from the Storage Innovations (SI) 2030 strategic initiative.

Can a current flow battery be modeled?

Now, MIT researchers have demonstrated a modeling framework that can help. Their work focuses on the flow battery, an electrochemical cell that looks promising for the job--except for one problem: Current flow batteries rely on vanadium, an energy-storage material that's expensive and not always readily available.

Why do flow battery developers need a longer duration system?

Flow battery developers must balance meeting current market needs while trying to develop longer duration systems because most of their income will come from the shorter discharge durations. Currently, adding additional energy capacity just adds to the cost of the system.

Defined standards for measuring both the performance of flow battery systems and facilitating the interoperability of key flow battery components were identified as a key need by industry.
